

Reimagine the plaza!

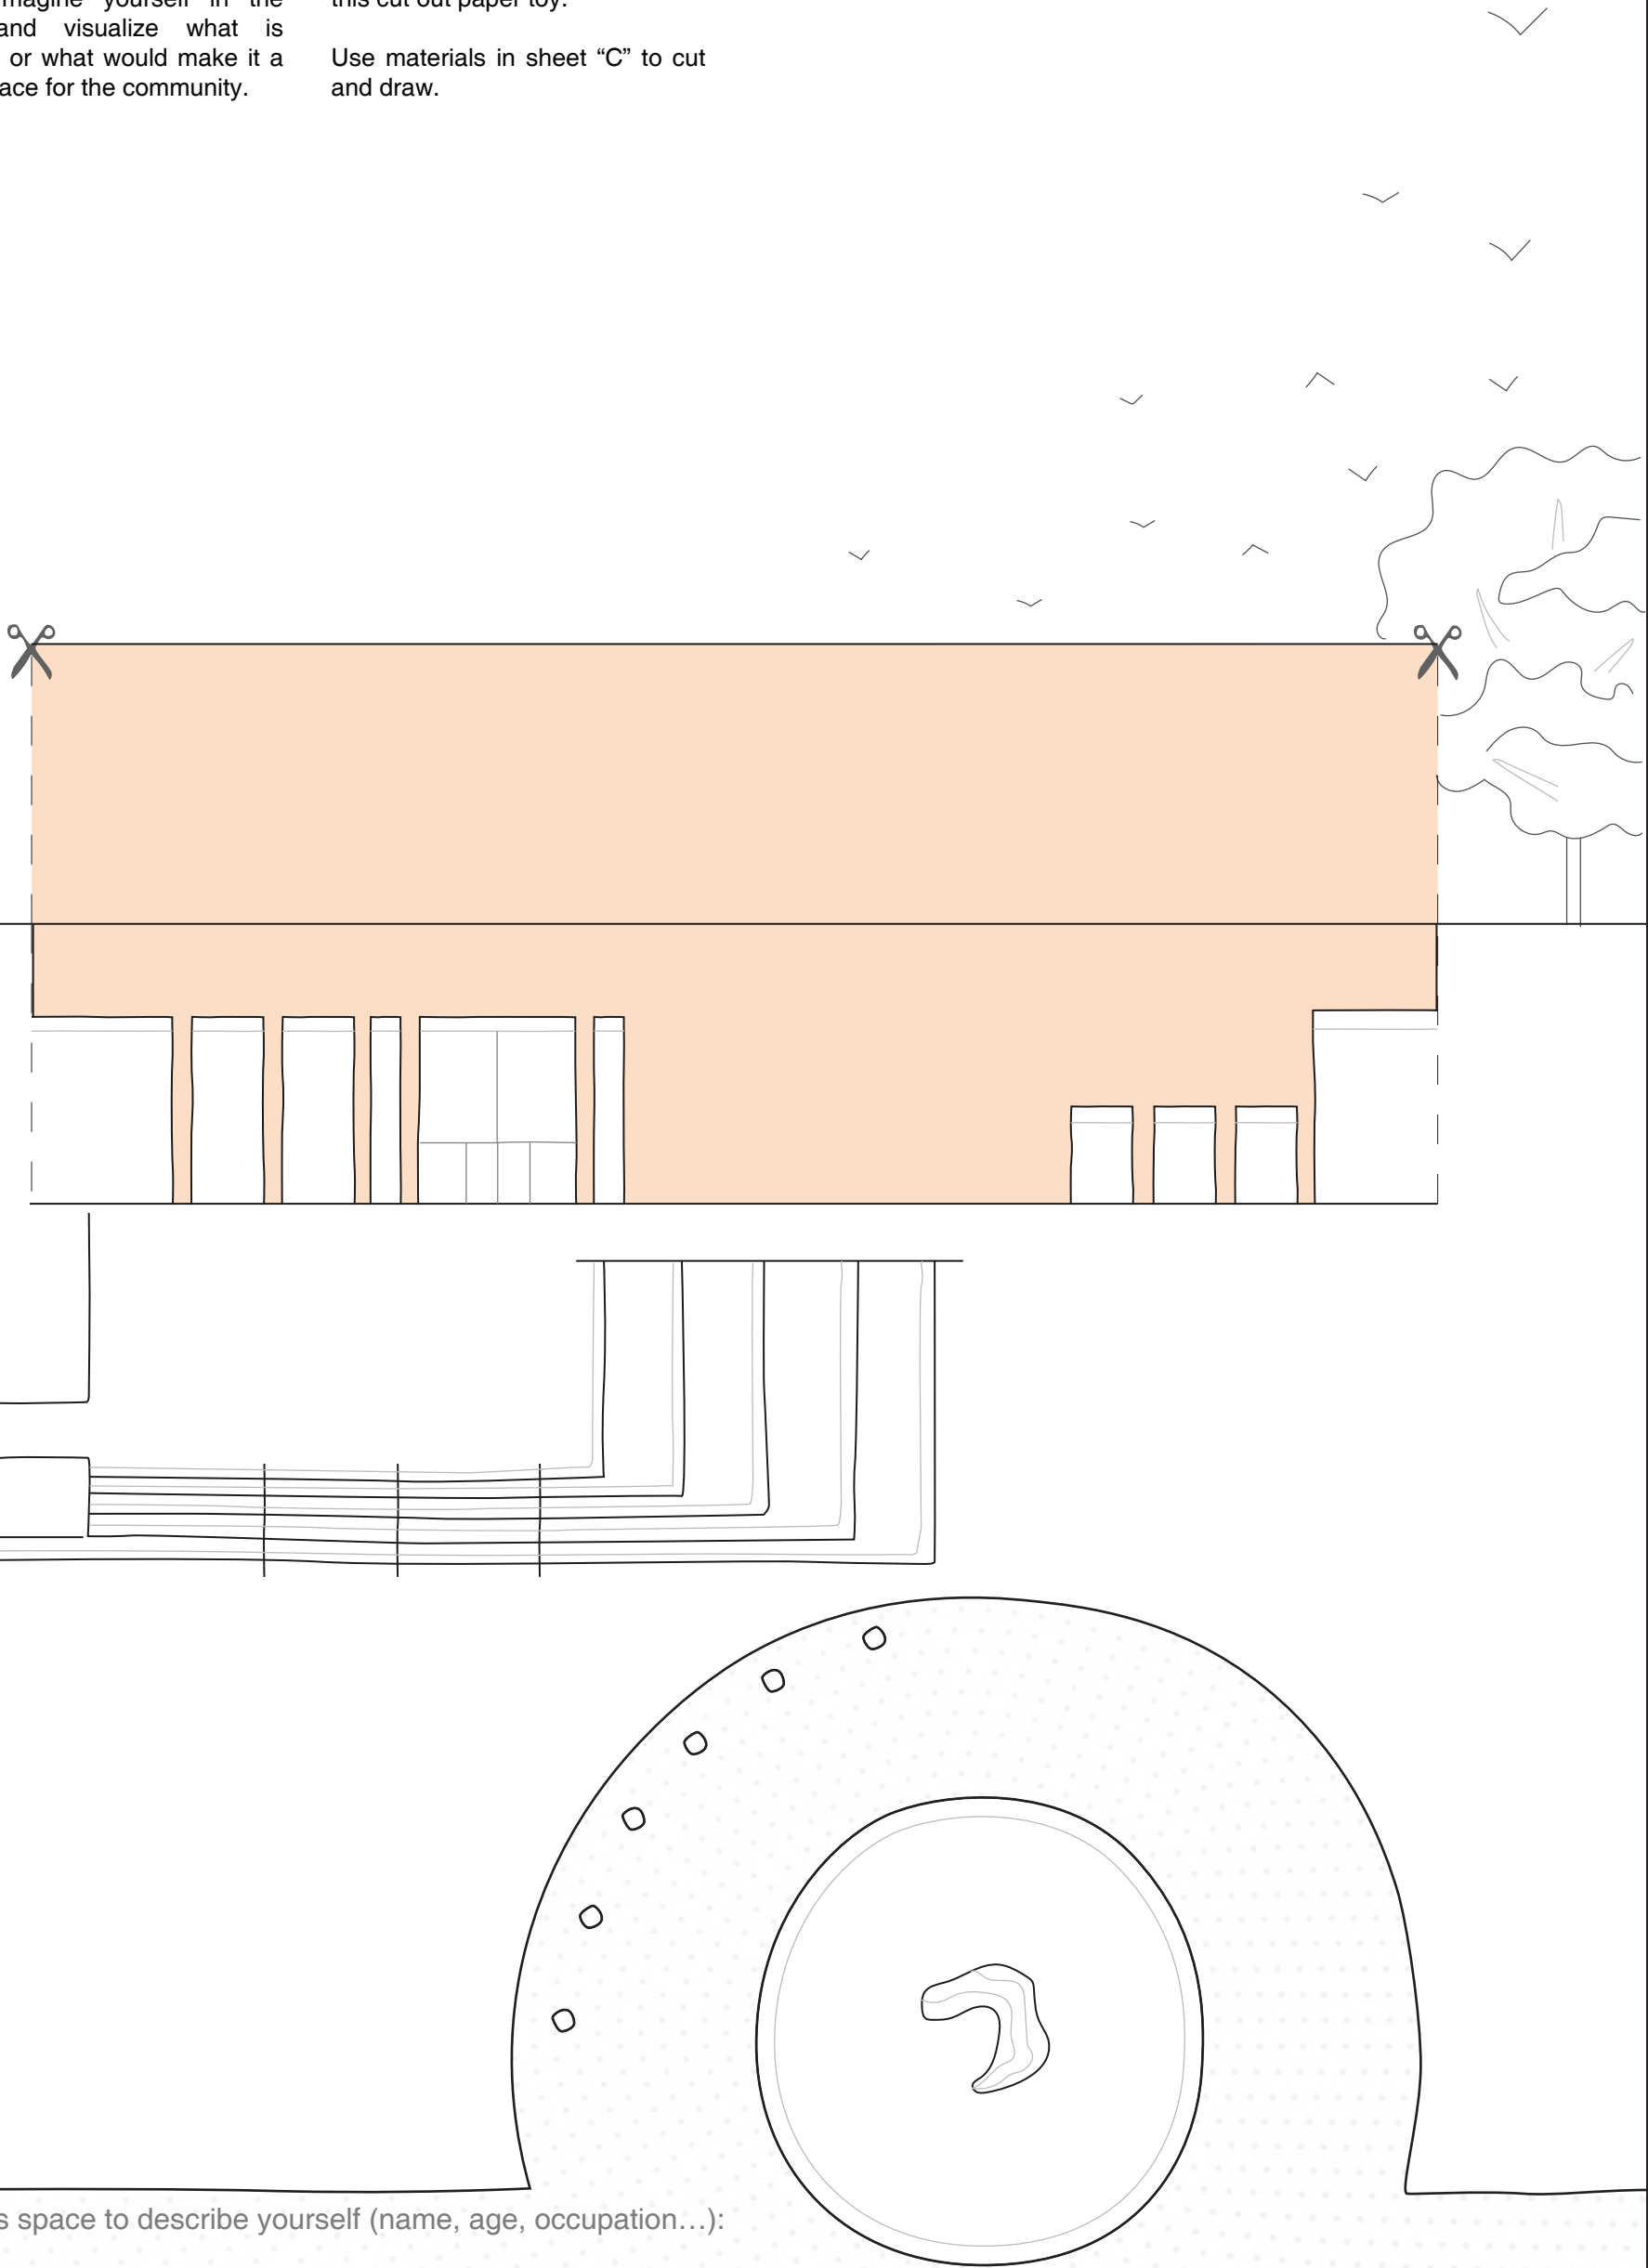

This cycle of Exhibit Columbus celebrates creative methods of collaboration through which communities and designers can work together to cultivate belonging and connection in public space.

For this year’s design of the plaza intervention, we ask you to draw, cut, color, and paste all of your ideas! Imagine yourself in the plaza and visualize what is missing, or what would make it a better place for the community.

What does the perfect plaza look like for you? Maybe the plaza should be used for sports, reading or maybe cooking? Does the plaza need a swimming pool, or should it be used as a space rocket launching site? With whom do you imagine yourself sharing this place?

Just draw it, cut it and stick it to this cut out paper toy.

Use materials in sheet “C” to cut and draw.

Use this space to describe yourself (name, age, occupation...):
